

AWO Responsible Carrier Program

Reinauer is committed to full implementation of an environmental, safety and quality assurance management system, which includes ISO/ISM and also the American Waterways Operators (AWO), Responsible Carrier Program (RCP). The requirements of the AWO program have been combined with the elements of the ISO/ISM requirements for our tug and barge operations. Comprehensive operating policies and procedures were established to protect the safety of employees and to protect the environment, while providing marine transportation for our clients.

Note; The American Waterway Operators (AWO) is the largest trade association for the U.S. Tug and Barge industry. The Responsible Carrier Program is an established code of practice for association membership, which was unanimously approved in 1994 by the AWO Board of Directors.
